Classes presented by Authorized OSHA Instructor Nicholas Dillon,
Director of Education & Risk Services, Aegis Corporation

Each three-hour class includes one hour of the following topics:

Blood Borne Pathogens:

The Pathogens Course teaches workers how to protect themselves from bloodborne pathogens, what to do when exposed to blood-containing materials, how to properly clean when exposed to blood, and how to report any exposure to blood or blood-containing materials in the workplace. Meets OSHA Standard 1910.1030 annual requirement for training.

Hazard Communications:

The Hazard Communication Program is designed to inform workers about hazardous chemicals. This is achieved by providing access to information on the physical and health hazards of chemicals, safe handling precautions, and emergency and first aid procedures. This course complies with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration annual requirement for Hazard Communication.

Personal Protective Equipment:

The course is designed to familiarize the employee with OSHA regulations affecting the use of personal protective equipment and provide employees with the skills needed to maintain and clean the equipment to protect themselves against hazards in the workplace. The course addresses head, hand, eye, and foot protection.
